Notes & Methodology

State Valuation Specifics

Idaho is a non-disclosure state; the assessor does not receive automatic sale price notification. Ada County assessors have access to construction cost, loan, and public record data, and multifamily properties are routinely assessed at or near completed cost. The assessment lien date is January 1; the ratio is 100% of market value. Idaho assesses annually. Appeals are filed with the Ada County Board of Equalization; the deadline is the fourth Monday of June per Idaho Code §63-501A.

Methodology

The 2026 anchor assessed value of $92,993,300 reflects the fully completed building as of January 1, 2026, per the Ada County Assessment Notice. The estimated 2026 tax of $419,161 applies the 2025 confirmed levy rate of 0.4507% to the 2026 assessed value; the actual 2026 bill is issued in November 2026 once levy rates are adopted. Year 1 (2027) is projected at $120,625,000, representing 96.5% of the $125,000,000 purchase price, consistent with Ada County assessor practice. Years 2 and 3 apply 3.0% annual value growth; Years 4 and 5 apply 4.0% annual value growth, reflecting continued Treasure Valley market acceleration. The levy rate declines approximately 2% annually throughout the projection, consistent with the Treasure Valley pattern of rapid assessed value base growth compressing levy rates.

Tax Rate

The combined levy of 0.4507% (2025 confirmed) is the sum of eleven overlapping taxing districts, with Meridian City (0.1979%), Ada County (0.1483%), and Ada County Highway District (0.0479%) representing the three largest components. The rate is confirmed from the 2025 Ada County Consolidated Property Tax Bill for Parcel R9464160100. Both the Property Roll and Subsequent Roll bills carry the identical combined levy of 0.004506896. The projection applies approximately 2% annual compression, reaching 0.4074% by 2031. There are no non-ad-valorem fees; all taxing district charges are captured in the combined levy.

Tax Bill & Payment

Idaho property taxes are billed in arrears. The Property Roll bill is issued in November and is due December 20 (first half) or June 20 of the following year (second half). The 2025 tax year generated two bills: a Property Roll bill of $283,017.76 due December 22, 2025, and a Subsequent Roll bill of $45,203.28 due June 22, 2026. The 2026 bill (based on the $92,993,300 assessed value) will be issued November 2026 and is due December 22, 2026. The buyer is expected to close in late 2026 concurrent with or shortly before this bill; confirm proration treatment in the purchase and sale agreement. Delinquent taxes accrue a 2% late charge plus 1% per month interest beginning January 1 following the delinquency per Idaho Code §§63-903 and 63-1001.
